The Majors

- Economics (B.A.)
- Management Science (B.S.)
- Joint Major in Math & Econ (B.S.)

What are the differences between the majors?
ECONOMICS (B.A.)

- The economics major is designed to provide a broad understanding of resource-allocation and income-determination mechanisms.

- This is a more traditional major that has a macroeconomic series that the other majors don’t include.

- Both the development of the tools of economic analysis and their application to contemporary problems and public policy are stressed within this major.
Management Science builds on a set of related quantitative methods commonly used to solve problems arising in the private (business and finance) and public (government) sectors.

This program is more tightly focused and more quantitative than a traditional business administration major.

Recommended for students interested in pursuing an M.B.A.
JOINT MATH-ECON (B.S.)

- Opportunity for students strong in mathematics to build on that strength through economic applications.

- Combined study that requires basic core classes from each discipline.

- Excellent preparation for Ph.D. study in Economics.
Department Honors

- Honors tracks exist for all three majors
- Additional coursework applies
- Honors program details are on our website
- Interested in more information? Speak with an advisor.
Business vs. Economics
Economics at UCSD:

- Economics is a different discipline from business administration. However, there are substantial overlaps.

- Both disciplines study the behavior of people and firms within the context of market, legal, and other institutions.

- Economists tend to emphasize the viewpoint of the larger society through quantitative methods and data analysis.

- UCSD offers a Business minor and an Accounting minor through the RADY School of Management.

Helpful Hints . . .

- Activate and regularly check your UCSD email account for announcements from colleges, departments, and faculty.
- Take advantage of office hours offered by your instructors and TAs. They are here to help you.
- Register for classes at your appointed registration time.
- Flexibility is essential when selecting your classes.
- If a class is full, put yourself on the waitlist, select an open section of the same class, or choose an alternative class.
- Visit: “How to Wait-list a Class” on TritonLink for details.
August Transfer Orientations

- The Department of Economics will host orientation/advising sessions for incoming transfer students before registration in August:
  - Monday, 8/18, 1:30-2:30 p.m.
  - Tuesday, 8/19, 1:30-2:30 p.m.
  - Wednesday, 8/20, 1:30-2:30 p.m.
  - Thursday, 8/21, 9:30-10:30 a.m.
  - Friday, 8/22, 9:30-10:30 a.m.
- These sessions provide a detailed overview of the Department, registration, and also afford you an opportunity to meet one-on-one with an advisor.
